Dear Readers. Well it's nearly the longest day, we were outside last night and it was still light enough to see, and this was 10.30pm...

We have been going to Plymouth a lot this last month. Why i hear you ask, there's nothing there.

Firstly we decided on a grey Saturday at the end of May to go somewhere we have not been to, possibly since the last century. yes the national marine aquarium. We had a very enjoyable morning, looking at all the little fishes, and some not so little sharks, in the biggest tank. Afterwards we came back to Tavistock for Fish and chips, seems a bit hypocritical, but the problem fish have is that they taste so good when wrapped in crispy batter.

Then on the 4th of June we (Nick and myself), went yet again to Home park the home of the mighty Plymouth Argyle. It was a wonderful evening, but all the action was up one end of the pitch, and i can't remember the last time there was 22000 people for a Plymouth home match. In fact there wasn't a football in site, but there was Olly Murs, and Take That. Yes I am a closet Take That fan, but the therapy is about to start. It turns out there were several there from around this area.

Will close now as Spring watch is on, and i need to water up the Tomatoes, and other stuff in the greenhouse.

I hope your Sunflowers are growing tall and strong, as ladies and gentlemen, we have a 6 year old to try to beat.

Best wishes to you all from Tim Nash, still your chairperson.

Sad news: my daughters dog recently ate a bag full of scrabble tile's. She took him to the vet's for treatment. When she called them up later, she was told there was no word yet, but results could spell disaster.

I went to the Zoo the other day, and in one exhibit, all there was, was a piece of toast on a branch. I asked the keeper what the exhibit was about. "he just said that all he knew was that it was bread in captivity".

Ps. it was Donald Ducks 90th birthday on Sunday the 12th of June. so please all raise your glasses and give a cheer to this animated icon.

From the Mountains of Japan

No.4 - Ishikawa's Most Famous Seat

Ishikawa Prefecture, on the Japan Sea, tragically hit by the New Year's Day 2024 earthquake, is as rural as Japan gets. With a long and rugged coastline around the Noto Peninsula that shares many similarities to South West England, it is predominantly a land of fishing villages and winding coastal roads. With few major attractions and difficult to reach on public transport, it is off the beaten path for most foreign tourists.

However, like most parts of Japan, if you delve deep enough you can come up with some fantastic treasures. One such is found along the wide, arcing bay of Masuhogaura Beach. Literally, along all of it.

Built in 1987 by a team of 830 volunteers and stretching for 460.9m, the wooden bench at the top of the beach was recognised as the World's Longest Bench by Guiness World Records in 1989. Even though it has since lost its record, it is well loved by local people. It is painted pink, to honour the "sakuragai" (cherry shells), which resemble cherry blossoms, and are known for washing up on Masuhogaura Beach between November and March. Japan likes to have a top three of everything, and the beach is considered one of the top three in Japan for shell collecting.

On the day I visited with my daughter, one chilly March during the Covid crisis, when traveling to remote areas was preferable, on a beach yet to be cleaned for the summer, we found more trash in evidence than shells. Walking—or indeed, running, in my daughter's case—the length of the bench, however, I was struck by the natural beauty of the place as breakers hammered the shore and a strong wind battered the couch grass along the berm between the beach and the bench.

Like most places, famous or otherwise, the best time to visit is when it's empty, and on that particular day, we were alone with the exception of one man and his boy, who had, incidentally, been staying at the same hotel.

In a country filled with famous places of interest, the world's (second) longest bench might not be high on many tourist itineraries, but it is certainly something unique for those who venture (a long, long way) off the familiar tourist path.

You may not have noticed given the weather, but it's actually summer and that means it's the cricket season! Behind the high hedges up at the recreation field more is going on than perhaps you realise. Did you know that on Friday nights we have 40+ children taking part in cricket activities? Were you aware that we have 7 teams, from U9 softball festivals through to competitive adult league cricket on 18 Saturdays across the summer? Probably not, but it does and all this is happening in the heart of our community. We are fortunate to have great facilities and many committed volunteers who make everything happen. You are welcome to come and join us at any of our games and training nights. The bar and pavilion are usually open during games. We are always looking for players but we also need supporters and volunteers.

NEWSFLASH: 1st XI captain Keith Maynard took 7 wickets for 14 runs in our win over Whitchurch last Saturday. This meant he topped the bowling table for the whole of Devon. Well done Keith!

- 9. Reports from Councillors Cllr Govett reported that problems with the new broadband network is being experienced, it was resolved that the chair would write a letter to the C.E.O. of Airband requesting that they investigate the reasons for the intermittent outages. Cllr Govett suggested that the hall could benefit further by promoting the hall and its facilities, the chair informed that this was on the committee's agenda after the final work for improvements has been completed.
- 10. Parish Councillors vacancies two vacancies remain.
- 11. Correspondence Request from Launceston Methodist Circuit grant support for graveyard, it was resolved that due to the current financial restraints that the pc have, it was unable to help. Stowford Parish Hall committee Annual insurance policy copy has been received by the clerk.
- 12. Future council projects for the parish Bus shelter request; The chair informed that the opportunity by parishioners to raise the issue further at the Annual Parish Meeting held on 9th April was missed. The lack of attendance by parishioners to attend the APM to raise this issue suggested that there was no further interest other than the one request in 2023. The PC had obtained permission form its neighbouring parish Marystow for the positioning of a shelter opposite the former Royal Exchange Pub but with the caveat that no liability would be placed on it also that it had no funds to finance the shelter. The chair obtained a quote for a shelter, the cost of £1565 + vat + installation, the anticipated cost being over £3000. After extensive public consultation opportunities, it was resolved that the cost was too prohibitive for the use that it would currently have. Cllr Govett proposed no further action to be taken, seconded Cllr Alexander, all in favour.

Meeting closed 8.40pm

Date time and place of next meeting – 9th July 2024 – 7.30pm at Stowford Parish Hall

Lewtrenchard WI June Report

We met on June 10 for our Annual Outing. 14 members and 5 guests joined us for a visit to RHS Rosemoor with a guided tour.

We met at Ruth's for car sharing and arrived at Rosemoor at about 10.45am. We assembled in the café, had some refreshment whilst waiting for our tour guide. The tour started at 11.30 and lasted one hour. It was a lovely day; warm but not too hot and most importantly, no rain. The tour was very interesting and informative, many of our members are regular visitors to Rosemoor but even they learned some interesting new facts. After the tour, most of us went to have some lunch followed by mooching around the grounds afterwards, we left after 3pm. Everyone had a great time.

Date and venue for next meeting: Monday July 8 at 7.30pm, Lewdown Victory Hall Beauty Evening with Kathy

July dates for your diary:

Reflections of a Steam Fireman

After the Beeching report and wholesale destruction of the railway (especially Steam) ending on our region on the 9th July 1967.

But life has to go on, diesels were slowly introduced. 1550 Cromptons the senior driver at the loco had to go on a seven week training course, so the loco made the senior fireman step and take their steam loco test leaving the loco short of fireman and I was asked at seventeen to give up 'no nights till you're eighteen rule'.

I sign the form and the following week I rostered with my regular driver, John Carter. We prepared our engine, a Q1 class 0-6-0, and worked a ballast train to Walton-on-Thames. My first weeks pay was for 116 hours 7 nights including Sunday, once you work over 8 hours ______ the extras mount up.

The next week we worked the Petersfield goods, a full load with Witley and Haslemere banks to negotiate with a 76 standard 2-6-0 class down to walking pace at the top of the bank, later that week we had a new Crompton diesel, my driver was trained early because he was relief running foreman.

Same load, 46 wagons of coal mostly, as the steam engine. We top the bank at twenty mph. We both look at each other amazed at the power, on towards Petersfield, at Langley bank we did not stop and pin wagon brakes down, we went over the top at 20mph, my driver applied the brakes to keep the train in check, no response, full emergency brake, the train was now out of control, a blast on the horn to signal that we were a runaway, halfway down the bank Princess Bridge crossing he could hear us coming and managed to open gates as we swept through and he rushed into his cabin and gave the bell for runaway train, next crossing was Liss station and the signalman managed to get his gate open in time.

By this time we were frantically sounding the horn, the next crossing was Andlers Ash, it was clear, we did not get back in control till just before Sheet crossing, the gradient rises, we had been out of control for about six miles, lucky it was 6.30am. We got to Petersfield two very ashen train crew needed a cuppa.

John informed the shunter that when we worked back he must give us a fitted head of wagon with vacuum brakes, I thought these diesels are not so good, the railway then

I must add that a steam engine had a steam brake for the loco and a combine vacuum brake for engine and tender, also in an emergency full reverse gear and apply steam.

Nine Elms suffered a shortage of fireman and I was sent on loan working empty carriage stock from Clapham to Waterloo, then bump the train out of Waterloo Station with a Standard 2-6-2 tank, interesting work for a country boy, all these posh people catching the Bournemouth Belle or Boat Train to Southampton for the Ocean Liners.

Another turn with a Standard 2-6-4 tank was the train from Clapham to Kensington Olympia in the morning and evening for postal workers, also freight trips to Willesden and Brent.

Tom

Gardening Jobs For July

It's July, summer is finally here and the garden is jam packed.

Here are my top tips to help you make the most of this great month...

Keep on picking

Courgettes are one garden favourite which reward those who pick fruit frequently, as they will keep on producing throughout the summer and offer you multiple harvests. Many beans (including french and runner) will also produce all summer long if you keep picking.

You can also make repeat picks from lettuce plants by just taking a few of the outer leaves at a time (rather than waiting to harvest an entire heart), the plants will continue producing tender fresh leaves which can provide salad leaves over an extended period.

Water wisely

Given the droughts of recent years, we are all more aware of the need to be wise with our water use, but doing so can benefit our plants (not just the reservoirs). It is far better to water your plants deeply, a couple of times week, than it is to sprinkle the surface of the soil every day. Avoid watering the leaves which can be easily burnt in bright sunlight.

Why not make a DIY olla to help provide moisture to your most precious plants? Purpose made ones can be expensive, so I use slim (unglazed) terracotta pots and fill the drainage hole with white tac, an upturned saucer makes a great lid. I bury them between the tomatoes in my polytunnel to help keep plants watered between allotment visits.

Deadhead, deadhead

As flowers like dahlias, cosmos and sweet peas start to bloom keep picking the flowers to encourage the plants to produce more, providing colour and scent for a longer period.

You can leave the flowers on the plant until they start to die back before removing them, or follow me, and keep cutting as many flowers as you can fit in a vase for glorious displays all summer long (both indoors and out).

Happy gardening!

Non-Fiction Book of the Month for July 2024

How to Read a Tree by Tristan Gooley

Do two trees ever appear identical? No, but why? Every small difference is a clue.

Each tree we meet is filled with signs that reveal secrets about the life of that tree and the landscape we stand in. The clues are easy to spot when you know what to look for, but remain invisible to most people.

As the author of the international bestsellers The Walker's Guide and How to Read Water, Tristan Gooley knows how to uncover the phenomena worth looking for. He has been instructing people in the art of reading trees for two decades and this book includes signs that will not be found in any other book in the world.

Recipe of the Month - Pasta with Broccoli-Pesto

Step 1:

500g broccoli 1tbsp rapeseed oil ½ tsp salt

300ml water

Cut broccoli into small pieces, peel the stalk and cut into small rings. Heat up the oil in a large pan. Add the broccoli for a few minutes, add salt. Add water, cover and cook for about 5 minutes. Put aside 100ml of the cooking liqueur and 150g of the broccoli, put the remaining broccoli into a blender.

Step 2:

2 pieces of garlic 60g walnuts bunch of basil

100ml rapeseed oil 40g grated parmesan 3/4 tsp salt & a little black pepper

Peel, dice and roast the garlic in a frying pan with the walnuts without adding fat. Remove and cool, add to the broccoli in the blender. Add the basil leaves and the reserved cooking liqueur and blend, add the oil, cheese and mix with a spoon, season to taste.

Step 3:

350g pasta (penne) 100g Parma ham

Cook pasta according to packet, drain, back in the pan, add the broccoli-pesto & broccoli pieces, mix well, serve & garnish with Parma ham.

June NewsLink Quiz Answers

BRAIN TEASER: You are in a room that has three switches and a closed door. The switches control three light bulbs on the other side of the door. Once you open the door, you may never touch the switches again. How can you definitively tell which switch is connected to each of the light bulbs?

ANSWER: Turn on the first two switches. Leave them on for five minutes. Once five minutes has passed, turn off the second switch, leaving one switch on. Now go through the door. The light that is still on is connected to the first switch. Whichever of the other two is warm to the touch is connected to the second switch. The bulb that is cold is connected to the switch that was never turned on.

CRYPTIC CROSSWORD:

RIDDLES: What starts with a T, ends with a T, and has T in it? A teapot.

From the Parish Priest

Dear friends.

I am getting to the age where there is a real danger that I view everything through an illogical pair of rose-tinted spectacles! Perhaps I should be diagnosed with a case of chronic Nostalgia!

It is so easy to look back at times that seem to be better in hindsight and pine for the familiar rather than accept the challenge of new things and new ways. All of us must hold in balance the things that are part of our past and upbringing with those things that are part of the present. The result of this may sometimes be excitement, and others disappointment.

I do not want to harp on, but one thing that I do feel is not the same, to the detriment of society is the lack of respect and civility within our political and civic leadership. However much the political leaders of my youth passionately held their opinions, they, on the whole, respected the good motives behind those with whom they disagreed.

Thirty Years ago, the whole nation was saddened and shocked by the death of the then Labour Leader: John Smith. The respect in which he was held by the then prime minister was evident in the gracious tribute John Major gave from the dispatch box. He said at one point "John was, by necessity, my opponent, but was never my enemy!"

I feel that there is so much encouragement in our national life to separate us from, and deny the value, of those with whom we disagree, rather than come together to, respectfully and civilly, work together for the good of our society.

I hope and pray that all our election candidates and those who aspire to political office will demonstrate this in their behaviour and language over the election campaign and also in the aftermath when some will be elevated to power and others disappointed.

"God created Man in his own image. Male and Female he created them." We must be so careful not to deny someone's worth and value to society based on their political opinions, skin colour, religion or any other human division.

May we work at being role models for our leaders, as much as we hope our leaders will be role models for us.

With love and prayers,

Philip

Be Alert for Asian hornets!

Asian or yellow-legged hornets (scientific name Vespa velutina) were accidentally introduced into France in around 2004. Now they have spread through much of Western Europe. They are serious predators of honey bees, and also attack bumblebees, solitary bees and other insects.

They defend their nests aggressively and will attack anyone who gets too close: newer approach a nest. Since 2016, there have been sightings of the Asian hornet in the UK, and a few nests have been found.

Asian hornet

If you see this insect PLEASE REPORT IT!

Asian hornets are generally smaller (25-30 mm head to tail) than our native hornet, the European hornet (Vespa crabro), which is 30-35 mm head to tail (but can seem much bigger!).

They are easy to distinguish because Asian hornets are mostly dark brown/black, with yellow 'socks' and an orange-yellow band near the tail. Native hornets look like very large wasps, with brown legs and bright yellow and black/brown markings. Native hornets fly both night and day, while Asian hornets fly only during the day.

Native hornet do not report

The best way to report the Asian hornet is by using the app:

'Asian Hornet Watch', or you can send photos and location details to:

alertnonnative@ceh.ac.uk

For identification help and advice in your area, go to www.bbka.org.uk (British Beekeepers' Association), hover over Asian Hornet and choose Asian Hornet Action Team map from the dropdown menu. Click on a pin on the map for local contact details.

The Organisers of Leawoodstock are pleased to announce that on the 28th of September 2024 we will once again be running this unique music event in Bridestowe.

Run by a group of friends, the original idea of a Band in a Barn was born from a throw away remark about how to repurpose a clean farm building after the cattle had been turned out for the summer. The initial event in 2017 was a one off to raise money and awareness of the local Cancer Charities 'Force' of Exeter and 'Pooch' in Plymouth.

We had all had personal experience of the devastation that Cancer can bring and wanted to give something back to these two small organisations. We realised that with our combined backgrounds in Engineering, Health and Safety, Hospitality, Project Management and having possession of a big barn and with an 'in house' electrician we were perfectly placed to organise a Not-for-Profit Music Event to which we could sell tickets. Leawoodstock was born!

Following a very successful evening we were inundated by requests to run again. We decided that to run every year would be too demanding - but we would organise a second event in 2019. This we did - and having learned many lessons from 2017 we streamlined the whole process and chose to support Devon Blood Bikes (Freewheelers) and The Devon Air Ambulance as being very relevant to our daily lives as walkers, riders, cyclists, motorcyclists, and farmers.

With Covid behind us we return with renewed enthusiasm. The line up for 2024 has yet to be finalised, but we are in discussion with two brilliant local Bands and should be able to go public very soon. We offer ample parking and camping to those who wish to stay overnight. Food will be available and here we are delighted to support the Okehampton Lions who will bring their outside catering unit for burgers, bacon baps, chips etc. Pasties will also be available from behind the ultra-long Feed Barrier Bar which also will sell a wide range of alcohol and soft drinks at very competitive prices.

This year our chosen charities are the Dartmoor Rescue Group and RABI - the Royal Agricultural Benevolent Institution - which provides mental health, wellbeing and financial support to farming families.

Please watch this space as we shall shortly be announcing our line up, ticket sales, price and admission details. This event is fully insured, licensed and will be stewarded at all times. Find us on Facebook @ Leawoodstock.

A Hard Life

A short story by Ron Brewer of the Attleborough Writers' Group

My life has been pretty hard in the past but things have sorted themselves out and now I am living in relative comfort.

Hopefully things will stay this way for a long time so I'd better make the best of it. Family life meant that I didn't get the best of starts in this world. My father had disappeared off by the time I was born. Seemed he was looking for another woman, well that's what we were told. With two brothers and two sisters at home as well, mum was always on the scrounge for more food. She did her best but just trying to get enough nourishment to even put on weight was difficult.

Even worse, we lost our home because of some local development, were separated from each other and it was a matter of the survival of the fittest. I was wandering around, having to just use my wits to get by. No one seemed to have any sympathy for those who were down on their luck. I soon found it was easier to hide away during most of the daylight hours, perhaps spending the time sleeping and then to travel around at dusk. I'd pick up odd bits of food that I might come across, even to the point of eating stuff that had been left around for pets and farm animals.

But as time went on I got weaker and weaker, even walking around was getting too difficult. One day I found my normal route had been blocked off and I had to cross a busy road that I was not familiar with. I went as fast as I could but I was injured by a passing car as I couldn't get out of the way quick enough. The car driver came back to have a look and kindly put a blanket around me, carefully positioned me in her car and took me straight off to hospital.

The staff at the hospital were wonderful. They must have dealt with many similar cases before as I was cleaned up, given some nutritious food, something to drink and settled down in a comfortable bed. I think I fell asleep almost immediately and woke up later feeling much, much better.

I was determined to try to turn my life around, to grasp this opportunity to live in a more normal world. My past life had been hard and I was determined not to go all through that again. So I was a 'perfect patient', co-operating with the staff, putting up with the regular baths and the weighing routines. The great day came and I was discharged, taken away from the hospital and given my freedom in what seemed like a countryside heaven.

I've settled down now, even found a girlfriend. And I'll always be grateful to those people at the Hedgehog Rescue Centre who made my past life into a thing of the past.
